

Hall I'th'Wood Medieval Graffiti Tour

Saturday 11th March 2017, 2pm – 3.30pm

Join Bolton Archaeology and Egyptology Society for a tour of the history of Hall I'th'Wood, home of Samuel Crompton, the inventor of the Spinning Mule.

Get a chance to see hidden areas of the building usually closed to the public!

The tour will show recently discovered medieval graffiti, popularly known as 'witch marks', but were a historical way of protection from a number of phenomenon, and get a chance to spot it yourself!

What you need:

- a torch (not essential but handy)
- good footwear (floors are uneven)
- a jacket, jumper or cardigan (attic spaces can be a little chilly)
- a keen eye (to spot the graffiti)

How to get there:

Hall I'th'Wood Museum, Green Way, off Crompton Way, Bolton, BL1 8UA

Organised by:

Supported by:

Bolton
Library and Museum Services

FREE (donations welcome)

ALL WELCOME

No need to book, but you can register your interest at chair@boltonaes.co.uk